

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

Pietro Lombardi ▼
EXPLORE THE APP

Europe Edition | August 2, 2019 | Print Edition | Video

Home World U.S. Politics Economy Business Tech Markets Opinion Life & Arts Real Estate WSJ. Magazine

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL. Grapevine Newsletter

A weekly look at our most colorful, thought-provoking and original features.

SIGN UP NOW

SAVE

SHARE

TEXT

MARKETS

Credit Suisse's Revamp Powers Profit

Shares in the Swiss lender rise after profit beats expectations

Credit Suisse CEO Tidjane Thiam has steered the bank back to growth after a long restructuring process. PHOTO: STEFAN WERMUTH/BLOOMBERG NEWS

By Pietro Lombardi and Julie Steinberg

Updated July 31, 2019 1:22 pm ET

Credit Suisse Group AG's profit growth accelerated in the second quarter, bolstered by its global markets businesses and domestic operations despite a challenging environment for Europe's lenders.

The Swiss bank's performance is a further endorsement of the sweeping restructuring efforts that it started in 2015 to streamline its investment-banking operations and sharpen its focus on wealth management.

Shares in Credit Suisse CS -1.99% ▼ settled 2.4% higher Wednesday.

The bank said Wednesday that its second-quarter net profit rose 45% to 937 million Swiss francs ($946.3 million) from 647 million francs a year earlier, after a smaller rise in the prior quarter. Revenue was flat from a year earlier at 5.58 billion francs.

Analysts had expected the bank to post a second-quarter net profit of 806 million francs on revenue of 5.32 billion francs, according to a consensus forecast provided by the bank.

AA
TEXT

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

CIO Network

Everyone Looks to You.
Whom Do You Look To?

Everyone Looks to You.
Whom Do You Look To?

Look Into Our Network

Performance over the past year

Source: FactSet

As of Aug. 2, 7:35 a.m. ET

“If you had asked me a year and a half ago, I would have been negative on Credit Suisse and said [Chief Executive Tidjane Thiam] was a dead man walking,” said Octavio Marenzi, CEO of Opimas, a consulting firm to banks. “He has pulled a rabbit out of the hat. He has been able to manage costs in a very disciplined way without sacrificing revenues too much.”

Earnings at its domestic bank were up 18% at 654 million francs. Revenue from bond and currency trading world-wide was up 6% in dollar terms, though fees from advising on deals and underwriting bond deals were down.

Credit Suisse posted three consecutive annual losses from 2015 through 2017—due to restructuring costs, legal settlements and U.S. corporate tax changes—but earned a profit of 2.06 billion Swiss francs last year.

The bank said the latter part of the second quarter led to a “more supportive revenue environment” amid expectations of a U.S.-China trade agreement and dovish central bank statements.

Earnings at the bank’s Asia-Pacific division, where it has been investing resources over the past few years, rose 9%.

Credit Suisse’s key international wealth-management division, whose head, Iqbal Khan, quit this month, undershot expectations with a 3% increase in pretax income. The bank attracted 9.5 billion francs of net new assets in wealth management in the quarter.

“We view these as strong results,” analysts at Citigroup wrote. “Global markets has been the main cause of consensus earnings downgrades

MOST POPULAR VIDEOS

1. When ‘Made in Vietnam’ Products Are Actually From China
2. How to Make Cold Brew at Your Desk
3. Biden Fights Back Against Attacks in Second Night of Debates
4. Opinion: A Democratic Divide Sees the Left Take on the Crazy Left
5. A Modern House With Views of the Ocean in Ireland

MOST POPULAR ARTICLES

1. Republican Engineer Fired by Google Claims ‘Bullying’
2. Families Go Deep in Debt to Stay in the Middle Class
3. Lowe’s Lays Off Thousands of Store Workers
4. ‘Fast & Furious’ Stars’ Complicated Demand—I Never Want to Lose a Fight
5. Meatless Burgers Stoke Sales and Questions About Nutrition

over the past 18 months, but has now shown signs of recovery for a second consecutive quarter.”

Credit Suisse said it has “experienced healthy levels of client engagement” so far in the third quarter, but said whether that would translate into activity is dependent on market conditions.

Write to Pietro Lombardi at Pietro.Lombardi@dowjones.com and Julie Steinberg at julie.steinberg@wsj.com

WSJ opens select articles to reader conversation to promote thoughtful dialogue. See the 'Join the Conversation' area to the right for stories open to conversation. For more information, please reference our community guidelines. Email feedback and questions to moderator@wsj.com.

JOIN THE CONVERSATION

'My Role Is Not to Be a Shill for the IRS'

Sunscreen Protects the Skin, but Does It Harm the Body?

Even After the Admissions Scandal, Colleges Won't Check Most Applications

China's Power to Boost Global Economy Is Fading

Manager Accused of Squelching Abuse Report at U.S. Indian Health Service Center Quits

Lowe's Lays Off Thousands of Store Workers

Trump Organization Subpoenaed for Documents Related to Stormy Daniels Hush Payment

Boy Scouts Meet at a Time of Crisis

Democratic Presidential Race Enters Winning Phase

FTC Antitrust Probe of Facebook Scrutinizes Its Acquisitions

WHAT TO READ NEXT...

MARKETS

Bank Stocks and a Fed Rate Cut

U.S.

Puerto Rico Governor Taps Former Opponent to Succeed Him

FILM REVIEW

'Luce' Review: Psyching Out an Enigma

CFO JOURNAL

GE's CFO Recruitment Plan: Call 'New Friends and Old'

POTOMAC WATCH

Opinion | The Left vs. the Crazy Left

Independent of The Wall Street Journal newsroom

MARKETS

Investing legend: The biggest risk facing the stock market is Donald Trump...losing

MarketWatch

MANSION GLOBAL ARTICLE

18-Acre Georgian-Style Manor in U.K.'s Cornwall Lists for £3 Million

BACK TO TOP ↗

WSJ Membership

WSJ+ Membership Benefits

Digital Subscription

Customer Service

Customer Center

Contact Us

Tools & Features

Emails & Alerts

Guides

Ads

Advertise

Commercial Real Estate Ads

More

About the Newsroom

Content Partnerships